

Cancer Nursing: A Comprehensive Textbook

Presenting a multidisciplinary approach to cancer nursing, this edition includes new chapters on: cultural systems related to cancer; the burden of the caregiver; the principles of immunology; gene therapy; the physiological aspects of pain; pain assessment; pain management; confusion; current cancer nursing research; rehabilitation services; and the legal responsibility of the nurse. There is also a new unit on nurses personal experience with cancer, which covers areas such as managing cervical dysplasia, surviving breast cancer, living with the consequences of a spouses cancer, and recovering from the loss of a spouse.
