

Company Officer Promotional Case Studies

Preparing candidates for an assessment center process, this resource manual contains seventy case studies on different aspects of the skills needed by a company officer to be successful. It focuses on a variety of company officer level management issues and incidents to assist in evaluation and on-going training in dealing with these events. Case studies examine potential sexual harassment problems, religious beliefs in the fire station, firefighter injuries on duty, fire station rituals, hostile work environments, attendance at ceremonies, domestic violence calls, drugs in the fire station, rookie firefighters, and much more. For candidates preparing to take an assessment center process for company officer, and for use in fire department training programs.
