

Growing up with Gods

Growing up with Gods has a kaleidoscopic splendor, the scenario shifting and switching with speed from the company of common village folk to an urban sophisticated milieu; in USA among non-resident Indian and their kids; in the company of innocent school children, bright young students of IIT, talkative co-passengers in a train and with delegates of a technical conference etc. In these eighteen story type articles written in a racy narrative style, the author has illustrated the many sense and nonsense, sublime and absurd thoughts on religion, God and secularism with considerable candor, simplicity and charm. The book is focused on interfaith harmony, pride in national heritage and universal brotherhood.
