

The Philosophy and Practice of Psychiatric Nursing: Selected Writings, 1e

This book brings together a collection of the authors works which address many of the most pressing issues in psychiatric nursing today. The selected writings have been assembled to present the reader with a cohesive view of the authors philosophy of nursing. Each chapter deals with either the process of defining the theoretical and practical basis of psychiatric nursing, or the issues of nursing in general as they relate to the practice of psychiatric nursing. Each chapter is followed by an invited commentary from respected psychiatric nurses.
