

ETH Yearbook 2010: Teaching and Research (gta publishers - ETH Yearbook)

Every year, ETH Zurich publishes the best of the work created by its students, teachers, and researchers in architectural design, technology, and visual design from the Department of Architecture. All the work in the 2010 yearbook was produced during the previous school year, some of it through exchange programs with other universities and programs of study in Europe and beyond. Highly illustrated, the resulting volume gives an interesting snapshot of the current state of architectural study, the approach and concerns of the Department of Architecture, and of young architects learning their craft.
